MAN B&W small-bore two-stroke engines, types 26-50MC/MC-C, ME/ME-C and ME-B

Dear Sirs

In addition to our previous Service Letter SL08-496/NJC regarding supports for cylinder covers for large-bore engines (60-98MC/MC-C & ME/ME-C), MAN Diesel has now designed a number of lifting and tilting tools for small-bore engine cylinder covers (26-50MC/MC-C, ME/ME-C and ME-B).

These new lifting and tilting tools are to be used during overhaul of small-bore engines, thereby avoiding work being carried out underneath a cylinder cover hanging from the engine room crane.

This new tool consists of (as shown in the figure):

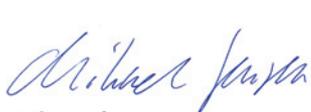

- a) two lifting eyes
- b) one tilting support

The lifting and tilting tool is available for all 26-50 cm bore MC/MC-C, ME/ME-C and ME-B type engines with 8 as well as 16 cylinder cover studs.

The cylinder cover lifting and tilting tool and the corresponding instruction can be ordered from our PrimeServ organisation (e-mail: PrimeServ-cph@mandiesel.com).

Questions or comments regarding this SL should be directed to our Maintenance Tools Department LEE3 (e-mail: lee3@mandiesel.com).

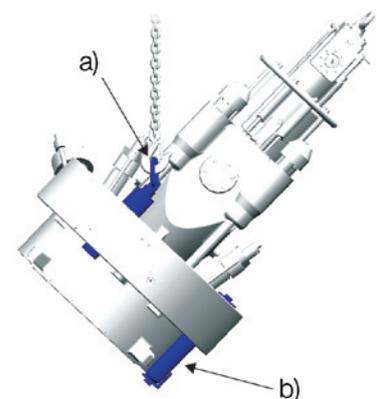

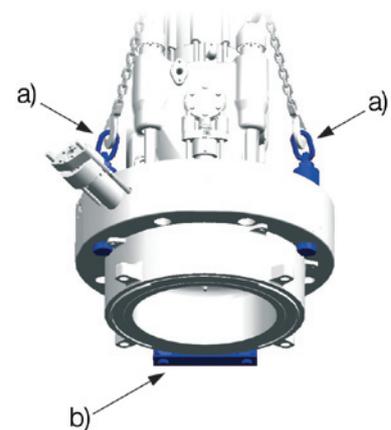

Yours faithfully
